WASHINGTON.

Charles Francis Adams on the Transportation Question—Relieved of Political Disabilities—The House Refuses to Take up the Civil Rights Bill—Bill for the Admission of Colorado Passed—Pinchbeck and Ferdinand.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Charles Francis Adams, in a letter to Senator Windom, expresses in the light of his experience as an Erie railroad commissioner, dissatisfaction with both the McCleary bill to regulate transportation by rail as going a great deal too far, and with Mr. Windom's suggestion of a simple measure for investigation which does not go far enough.

The senate passed a bill to relieve C. L. Stevenson, of Virginia, of his political disabilities.

The house refused to suspend the rules to take up the senate civil rights bill, and referred it to the judiciary committee by a vote of one hundred and thirty-six to eighty, not two-thirds in the affirmative.

The house passed the bill for the admission of Colorado as a state.

Ferdinand and Pinchbeck argue their cases this evening at the bar of the house. Each has an hour.

FOREIGN.

LONDON, June 8.—The Standard's Paris correspondent says the manifesto of the left, calling for a declaration of the republic or dissolution of the assembly, causes the greatest sensation since the overthrow of Thiers. It is generally thought its effect will be to hasten the day of dissolution and improve the prospect for the establishment of a regular government. The conservatives are dismayed. The morning journals report an earl missing from the city. A dispatch from Liverpool, says the Courier, states that his name is Earl Yorkborough. The police are searching for him.

Denies It.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Miguel DeAldeemo, agent of the Cuban government in this country, publishes a card denying the charges that Cuban bonds are being used at Washington to induce congressional legislation in regard to the war in Cuba, and inviting the appointment of a committee to examine the record of all the Cuban bonds from the first issue of the same.
